

Tovarna Rog – A factory Rog

The buildings of the former bicycle factory Rog have been used by various self-organized collectives since 2006. An initial drive for occupation, still present today, was a need to produce social, cultural and political content autonomously. It was an answer to ongoing privatization of public spaces and reduction of the possibility to act as a common and from below. Accordingly, the former factory is an autonomous, self-managed space. The users generate activities on a daily basis. Today, there are many different spaces functioning: Social center Rog, Skatepark, Transforma, Concert hall, Cirkusarna NaokRog, various workshops and sport activities are being organized, there are galleries and studios, etc. It is important to notice that all those activities are self-organized and self-initiated. We'll tell you more en vivo :)
